VOLUNTEER STEWARDSHIP

HELP PLANT TREES at the HOLLYSTONE PRESERVE

This May, help complete a massive reforestation project in Hopewell Valley's Hollystone Preserve. Join the Grainger Foundation, Mercer County Park Commission and Friends of Hopewell Valley Open Space on May 19 to plant the final trees and shrubs of the project.

Hollystone, preserved in 2010, provides a crucial link between the woods of Baldpate Mountain and Washington Crossing State Park. Friends of Hopewell Valley Open Space and Mercer County recently partnered to reforest 40 acres of fields at Hollystone.

The Grainger Foundation has supported the stewardship work of the County since 2010 and have become a partner in our conservation efforts. A grant from the Grainger Foundation funded the purchase of the native trees and shrubs that will be planted in May, and volunteers from their Hamilton branch will join the planting effort.

Location: Hollystone Preserve, Fiddlers Creek Road, Titusville

Volunteers will meet at the Baldpate Mountain Parking Lot on Fiddlers Creek Road the day of the event.

Date: Sunday, May 19 from 1—4pm

To Sign Up: Please contact Jenn Rogers (jjrogers@mercercounty.org or 609-303-0706).

Bring shovels and work gloves if you have them (extra gloves and shovels will be provided).
